Financial Action Steps and Milestones for Different Ages and Stages of Life

Presenter: Barbara O'Neill, Ph.D., CFP, CRPC, AFC, CHC, CFEd, CFCS

Generations vary in key ways- including personal finance practices- based on their formative experiences. Extension FCS educators teach clientele at different ages and stages of the financial life cycle and represent various generational cohorts themselves. This workshop will describe three financial life cycle stages (wealth protection, wealth accumulation, and wealth distribution), generational touchstones, and differences in financial management practices by generation, recommended financial action steps and milestones for people at different ages and stages of life, and useful financial education resources.

Similar to a medical standards of care (e.g., having a colonoscopy starting at age 50 and regular blood pressure and bone density tests), certain age-based milestones tell people the key actions to take at different ages. For example, the following financial activities often take place at various decades of a person's life:

- 20s and 30s - Debt repayment and household formation
- 40s and 50s - Peak earnings and wealth accumulation
- 60s - Preparation for retirement and retirement
- 70s and Above - Transitions and wealth distribution

Learning Objectives:

- Participants will understand characteristics of different generations, including financial management practices.
- Participants will participate in 10 learning activities that they can replicate with clients.
- Participants will learn about recommended action steps for different ages and age-based financial milestones.
- Participants will learn about resources to enhance their understanding of generational personal finance.

The Potential Health Beneficial Effects of Cocoa and Chocolate: What Does the Research Say?

Presenter: Joshua D. Lambert, Ph.D.

This session will combine a Sweets Demo from the Hotel Hershey Pastry Team and presentation from Dr. Joshua Lambert. The Sweets Demo will feature two desserts, which will be discussed, finished and plated into serving portions. Discussions will revolve around chocolate at different levels (sweet to bitter sweet).

Dr. Lambert's session will provide an overview of research on the potential health beneficial effects of cocoa and chocolate. It will include an overview of how cocoa and chocolate are produced, the important phytochemicals and nutrients in cocoa and chocolate, and a summary of studies to date on the potential mitigation of chronic diseases such as cardiovascular disease, fatty liver disease, and type II diabetes. An emphasis will be placed on balancing the potential health beneficial effects of cocoa and chocolate with the added calories from fat and sugar that chocolate brings to the diet.

Learning Objectives

- Provide an overview of what cocoa and chocolate are and how they are made,
- Offer insight into the important nutrients and phytochemicals in cocoa and chocolate,
- Describe studies to date on the health beneficial effects of cocoa and chocolate including the strengths and weaknesses of the major studies

Intergenerational Adventures - Enriching the Work of the Family and Consumer Sciences

Presenters: Matthew Kaplan, Ph.D.; Denyse Variano, RN, MPS; Fran Alloway, MA, RD, LDN; Julika von Stackelberg; Megan Dolbin-MacNab, Ph.D.

Intergenerational programs represent a practical and effective means to enrich the lives of individuals across the life span, strengthen family support systems, and contribute to caring, cohesive communities. As such, it is an area of practice that is consistent with the goals of most Extension professionals, particularly in the children, youth, aging/adult development, and family program areas. This pre-conference workshop will highlight ways in which an intergenerational framework can be used to enhance the work of FCS professionals. Featured Extension programs have been found to promote healthier eating practices, increased support for kinship families, enhanced older adult civic engagement, and countered age-related stereotypes. Presenters will provide practical guidance for program development and implementation.

Learning Objectives

- Become acquainted with the emerging interdisciplinary field of "intergenerational programming" and its relevance for enhancing the work of FCS professionals
- Learn basic principles and strategies for planning effective, sustainable intergenerational programs and activities
- Gain a working knowledge of evidence-based Extension programs that support kinship care families, help families achieve their healthy eating goals, and provide older adults with new pathways for engaging youth and contributing to community quality of life for all generations

Advice for Living from the Oldest (and Wisest) Americans

Karl Pillemer, Ph.D.

Professor of Human Development at Cornell University and Professor of Gerontology at the Weill Cornell Medical College

Can our elders serve as “experts” on how to live our lives? To answer this question, Dr. Karl Pillemer, gerontologist and Professor of Human Development at Cornell University, decided to seek advice on how to live from the oldest Americans. In the Cornell Legacy Project, he surveyed over 1200 elders, asking them for their most important lessons for living – on topics like marriage, career, parenting, aging, regrets, happiness, and overcoming loss. In this talk, he highlights some of the key findings from the project, focusing on practical advice from the “Greatest Generation” for living a happier, healthier, and more fulfilling life. journey in an ever-increasing climate of change.

Learning Objectives:

- Learn about the importance of elder wisdom as a way of combating ageism.
- Gain knowledge about ways to promote intergenerational communication.
- Be exposed to an evidence-based program that promotes intergenerational contact.

Regional Business & Awards Luncheon

1:00 PM - 5:00 PM

Exhibitor Set-up/Silent Auction Set-up

1:30 PM - 5:30 PM

In-Depth Sessions, (separate registration required)

Buses will depart the Hershey Lodge at 1:30 PM and return by 5:30 PM, except for the Everything in the Kitchen Sink tour which will return at 7:15 PM.

In-Depth Session 1 – Before & After Milton S. Hershey

Track: Community Vitality, Entrepreneurship, Nutrition

This session will include stops at the Hershey Story Museum and Hershey-Derry Township Historical Society Museum and will give attendees a broader understanding of how Milton Hershey transformed the landscape of the town that bears his name. Participants will have the chance to sample warm drinking chocolates and take in HSM's many exhibits and features. The Hershey-Derry Township Historical Society Museum is home to over 50,000 artifacts and photos intent on preserving the history and architectural legacy of these two communities. During your tour and visit you'll learn about the early settlers of Derry Township and the community of Hershey before Milton H's arrival and what's transpired since he was at the head of Hershey Chocolates.

In-Depth Session 2 – Penn State College of Medicine Public Health Research

Track: Community Health & Wellness, Nutrition & Food Security

Public health is defined as the science of protecting the safety and improving the health of communities through education, policy-making and research for disease and injury prevention. Faculty and Staff at the Penn State College of Medicine are currently working on a number of projects that touch upon all facets of public health. This interactive session will explore the work being done in three project areas -- The Translation of Despair and Healthcare, The REACH (Racial and Ethnic Approaches to Community Health) Program, and The Hershey Community Garden. This latter segment will involve walking outdoors into the expansive garden area.

In-Depth Session 3 – Celebrating Nature's Bounty

Track: Entrepreneurship, Sustainable Agriculture, Food Security

This session will include stops at Finchbaugh's Orchard & Farm and the Moondance Winery, Cider Harvest & Tap Room. Finchbaugh's Orchard & Farm has been offering educational programs for both adults and children for years that include a guided walking tour, fun ag/nutrition lesson and a tasty seasonal snack (which you will experience yourself). They also have a corn maze, offer PYO and wagon rides, and operate a charming retail store. The Moondance Winery, Cider Harvest & Tap Room is housed in a spectacular French-style Chateau overlooking the Susquehanna River. Attendees will have the opportunity to sample some of their award winning wines, ciders and brews and tour their production facilities (included in in-depth session ticket price).

In-Depth Session 4 – Using Historical Preservation to Revive Neighborhoods

Track: Community Vitality, Entrepreneurship

First stop in Harrisburg is a guided tour of the Pennsylvania Capitol Building, the grandest state capitol in America, long admired as a “palace of art.” See House and Senate chambers, Supreme Court chamber, and Capitol Rotunda. Next, participants will take a scenic route down Old Front Street, past historic mansions, “Governors’ Row,” and vistas of the Susquehanna River, stopping for a guided tour of the John Harris Mansion, 18th-century Colonial home of the founder of Harrisburg, today one of the leading house museums in Pennsylvania. The last stop will be free time in Historic Midtown. Attractions within a 2-block radius that may be explored, free of charge, (with map provided) include: Midtown Scholar Bookstore and coffeehouse, one of America’s top bookstores, Susquehanna Art Museum and gift shop, The Millworks, featuring 30 in-house artist studios, gift shop, and restaurant, Historic Harrisburg Resource Center, history exhibits in old bank building, A stroll down Broad Street, two blocks to Riverfront Park and Sunken Gardens, past picturesque restored rowhomes in the Old Midtown Historic District. This in-depth will utilize the bus between the different stops, but walking may be required among the different locations, so wear comfortable shoes.

In-Depth Session 5 – Experience Amish Life at the Plain & Fancy Farm

Track: Diversity, Food & Nutrition, Clothing & Textiles

Take in a nine-room Amish country homestead and one room schoolhouse, and shop at their charming country store. Participants will learn more about the Amish way of life during this unique look at how they live, work and worship. Your guide will explain Amish customs, dress, and adapting to life without electricity. It’s the county’s only designated “Heritage Site” Amish house tour. Sit at authentic Amish desks and learn how eight grades are taught in one room by one teacher! Shop their 5,000 square foot store for authentic Amish-made bonnets, dresses, wooden toys, dolls and crafts.

In-Depth Session 6 – Lititz -- the Coolest Small Town in America

Track: Community Vitality, Entrepreneurship, Food & Nutrition

Surrounded by rolling farmland and a rich cultural/historical heritage, you'll first tour the Julius Sturgis Pretzel Bakery (founded in 1861) where you'll get a hands-on lesson in pretzel twisting using a playdough mixture, followed by on your own stops at the Appalachian Brewery (which is housed in a 100 year-old refurbished building) and Wilbur Chocolates (which has been in business longer than Hershey Chocolates) -- both are within easy walking distance of the Pretzel Bakery. Lititz is also home to Linden Hall, the oldest all-girls boarding school in the country, which was founded by the Moravians in 1746. An abundance of retail shops, eateries and bookstores in a five-block area makes for a wonderful small town ambiance and close-knit community feeling.

In-Depth Session 7 – Everything --- and the Kitchen Sink!

Track: Diversity, Entrepreneurship, Food & Nutrition; Clothing & Textiles

This in-depth will start with a stop at the Lancaster History Museum which houses various collections that give you a glimpse into the rich cultural history of the area as well as the Louise Arnold Tanger Aboretum. You will take part in a 45-minute long white glove "turning" of six vintage quilts with a museum curator. No visit to Lancaster country is complete without a stop at Kitchen Kettle Village -- a three generation family business with over 40 unique shops, restaurants & lodging in an historic PA Dutch Village setting. Attendees will participate in a Whoopie Pie Making Experience before heading off to watch Amish and Mennonite ladies "put up" jams and relishes in the canning kitchen; you can also take advantage of the opportunity to add on kitchen, cheese or quilt "chats" (for a small fee). If time permits, head over to the Old Country Store across the street where you'll find ample offerings of quilts, fabric, local crafts and wares including baked goods, kettle corn, fudge, candles and more! NOTE: this in-depth returns to the Lodge around 7:15 pm!

In-Depth Session 8 – Working Smarter Not Harder: Needs Assessments for Modern Times in the Changing Landscape of Urban, Suburban and Rural Environments

Track: Community Vitality, Leadership

Many times, Extension educators are called upon to help community organizations develop strategic plans or help them determine how effective their marketing or program outreach is being received by target audiences. During this interactive session, participants will learn how to better design, implement and analyze a community needs assessment; better understand the Institutional Review Board (IRB) process; get feedback from experts that have been through this procedure; and have questions answered during a short panel discussion.

In-Depth Session 9 – Addressing the Opioid Crisis: Evidence-informed Programs, Trauma-informed Efforts and Community Collaborations

Track: Life Span Development (Aging, Child & Human Development)

This session will explore what Pennsylvania is doing to battle the opioid and heroin epidemic from both a statewide perspective and local efforts. It will address research being done on the link between trauma and SUD (substance abuse disorder), the proposed efforts to become trauma-informed communities, the evidence-based strategies that PA/PSU supports, and the data behind them as well as the importance of community mobilization to prevention success. Strategies shared may be replicated or help augment efforts being taken to address this crisis across the country.

In-Depth Session 10 – Creating a Culture of Health One Community Coalition at a Time!

Track: Community Health & Wellness, Sustainable Living, Community Vitality

Well Connected Communities is an effort to cultivate wellness across the country. America's Cooperative Extension System, including 13 land-grant universities across the country, in partnership with National 4-H Council, is equipping volunteer leaders to help their neighbors be healthier at every stage of life. This initiative is supported by the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation. The focus of this session will be to share best practices and lessons learned around the community health coalition work. A panel of agents involved in this work will share their experiences as well as a summary of Extension system learnings, including barriers and benefits. Opportunities for other land-grant universities to become involved will also be shared.

In-Depth Session 11 – Teen Cuisine -- a Cooking and Nutrition Education Curriculum for Grades 6-12

Track: Nutrition, 4-H Youth Development

Teen Cuisine is designed to teach youth (grades 6-12) important life skills to promote optimal health. The curriculum addresses key concepts about nutrition, food preparation/cooking, food safety, and physical activity by using approaches and strategies that enhance learning and behavior change among teens. Food demonstrations will be included. Information on purchasing the curriculum will also be provided to attendees.

In-Depth Session 12 – Prepare for Retirement: Counting Down to Your Retirement Day

Track: Financial Management

Preparing for retirement is a process that ideally starts decades before the retirement date arrives. Whether your retirement is decades away or just around the corner, this session will cover key topics that should be considered as you plan for the big day and another phase of life. This session will increase participants' awareness on key considerations, financial and non-financial, related to planning for retirement. This information will also be valuable for those educators that teach about retirement planning.

We Got the Chronic Disease Blues

Ann Albright, Ph.D., RDN

Director of the Division of Diabetes Translation

Do you know anyone with diabetes, heart disease, cancer, asthma or arthritis? It is highly likely that you do. Chronic diseases are common and costly. They are leading causes of death and disability. The good news is that many of these conditions can be managed and in some cases prevented or delayed. This requires effective interventions and the ability to access them. In this session, you will hear the state of chronic diseases and associated risk factor in the U.S. Evidence based interventions being supported by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention will be described. Opportunities for Extension professionals to become involved or connected to this work will be presented. As you consider all of those people in your life that have or are at risk for chronic diseases and the impact of chronic diseases on all sectors of society, you will not want to miss this session.

Learning Objectives:

- Describe the burden of chronic disease in the United States
- Explain two effective chronic disease interventions
- Identify one opportunity for Extension professionals to engage in the interventions presented

The Awards Banquet will take place immediately after Dr. Albright's presentation.
