

What challenges do Cooperative Extension and/or Family & Consumer Sciences face in your state?

1. It has been difficult to provide programming to clientele during these current times with restrictions due to COVID. This is especially difficult because most classes have traditionally been very hands-on and many people in our state are not able and/or willing to participate in online classes.
2. Retaining traditional Extension volunteers who have been educated and retained in a face-to-face educational program and are now transitioning to online communication/regular educational format.

To assist NEAFCS in future planning and communication, please list concerns your Affiliate has for the NEAFCS Board to address:

1. More ways that we can adapt traditional hands-on programming to meet current needs, while respecting safety guidelines.
